Ofsted Inspection - 20th March 2018

As you will know, our long awaited visitors called on Monday morning to say they would be with us on Tuesday to conduct a Section 8 inspection.

For those unfamiliar with the Ofsted inspection system - there are two possible options: a Section 5 (full) or a Section 8 (short) inspection.

A Section 5 (2-day) full inspection involves inspectors visiting the school and making judgements on four key areas:

- Effectiveness of leadership and management
- Quality of teaching, learning and assessment
- Personal development, behaviour and welfare
- Outcomes for pupils

The judgement in each of these areas will inform the final grading regarding a school's Overall effectiveness:

- Outstanding
- Good
- Requires Improvement or
- Inadequate.

A Section 8 (1-day) short inspection involves inspectors visiting the school to look at progress since the last inspection, the school's own evaluation of its performance and the effectiveness of safeguarding, but does not result in a change in overall grading.

Schools do not have powers to determine which of the above inspections they receive. In December 2017, changes to the inspection framework removed the possibility of a short inspection being converted to a full inspection within 48h, unless there were concerns about a school.

As a 'Good' school, there are four possible outcomes from a Section 8 inspection:

- 1. School remains Good Where the lead inspector judges that a school remains Good, they will receive a letter setting out that school remains good and its next steps to work on before the next Section 8 (short) inspection (3-5 years).
- 2. School remains Good, with marked improvement Where the lead inspector considers that a school remains Good and there is sufficient evidence of strong practice and marked improvement in its performance to believe that the school may be judged Outstanding under a Section 5 inspection if carried out now, they will receive a letter confirming that the school remains good, highlighting the specific areas where particularly strong practice has been evidenced, as well as priorities for further improvement and recommending a Section 5 (full) inspection take place (1-2 years).
- 3. School may no longer be Good if safeguarding is effective and behaviour is not inadequate, then the school will receive a letter setting out strengths and giving clear areas for improvement. They will receive a Section 5 inspection within one to two years.

4. There are serious concerns about safeguarding, behaviour or quality of education. The short inspection will convert to a Section 5 inspection, usually within 48 hours.

The outcome of our inspection remains confidential until the final letter is received in school, but we look forward to being able to share this with parents in due course.

In the meantime the inspector asked me to pass on his thanks to the number of parents who completed Parent View, to the children, who he described as 'consistently delightful' and to the staff and governors for their warm welcome and commitment to the children of TRJS.

Year 6's amazing trip to Cannock Chase museum!

On Wednesday 21st March, Year 6 went to Cannock Chase museum to learn about WW2, which has been our history topic since Christmas.

There, we examined many artefacts and had to wear gloves for they didn't want us to accidentally break/damage them or put any finger prints on the unique items. Some of the artefacts we looked at were: gas masks, warden helmets, identity cards and ration cards.

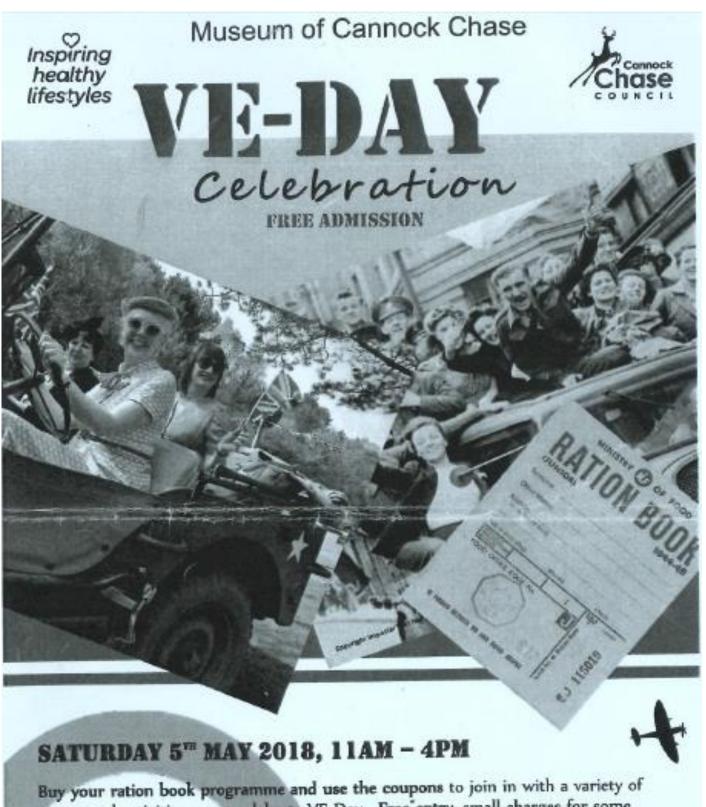

Furthermore, we acted out four plays about evacuees. We were all very excited about this as we could understand what happened to young children all around the country and show our friends the plays that we dressed up and worked hard on! One was choosing children at the village hall, one was the teacher telling the children that they were going to be evacuated, one was a happy evacuee experience and the other was an unhappy experience.

As well as this, we were taken into a room which had nine mystery boxes, which were all covered up with a black out curtain. Placing our hand in the boxes, we had to feel and describe the artefact to the other people in the group (a, b, c and d). Some really confused us e.g. the buttons and the washing tweezers!

Thank you to the Friends for supporting the trip and to the parents who helped accompany the visit.

Overall we had a brilliant day!!! By Polly and Harrison

Best wishes, Mrs Sharpe
